CALIFORNIA'S MOST ADVANCED WOMEN'S HEALTH CARE CENTER OPENS IN LONG BEACH

Long Beach, Calif. _ The West Coast's most advanced, integrated women's medical center has opened in Long Beach.

The Gynecology Emergent Care Center (GYN ECC) provides comprehensive emergency gynecological care in one location, from lab tests and imaging to diagnosis, surgery and medication.

The new state-of-the-art center offers an affordable alternative to emergency-room care provided by an all-female staff of accomplished physicians who together have performed more than 50,000 surgical procedures and assisted more than 10,000 women during labor and delivery. The center's nine doctors _ already the No. 1 choice for more than 27,000 Southern California patients _ comprise unparalleled expertise in all kinds of gynecological procedures, from laproscopic partial hysterectomies to advanced urinary incontinence treatments and reconstructive pelvic surgeries. The GYN ECC is part of Complete Women Care, established by Dr. Miriam Mackovic-Basic 17 years ago.

"We're proud to say that the GYN ECC is a product of our common efforts to stay true to our mission and offer women what they really deserve in emergency situations," she said.

Gynecological emergencies are often considered low-priority in emergency rooms, where patients are likely to be treated by ER doctors who aren't OB-GYNs. Dr. Mackovic-Basic describes the GYN ECC as "a micro-specialized OB-GYN hospital."

This dedicated, integrated institute is equipped with advanced diagnostic tools, surgical facilities and a pharmacy onsite, so it streamlines the process from diagnosis to recovery. Patients get all the care they need in one place, with a caring, compassionate touch.

Masseuses are available to relax patients before their procedures with a foot rub or scalp massage. Activities are provided to keep family members occupied. Patients will even find a chocolate on the pillow in the exam rooms.

Care at the GYN ECC is covered by the Affordable Care Act.
